GOES HOT AFTER HIS DEFAMERS

The Social Purity Man Minces No Words. This Time—Assertions Denied—That Bit About Solicitor Clark—The Expression Boss Potter Explained.

EDITOR OF NEWS REVIEW:—Your paper is a medium of good in this community, and bears that reputation among good men and true women. I am engaged in an effort to do good and to destroy evil, and being thus engaged in my Masters cause, I claim the use of your columns to defend myself against untruth, misrepresentation and slander, as made use of in a daily journal published in this city—a paper not above reproach, whose whole history, as I am informed by men acquainted with the facts in the case, has been that of upholding evil and decrying the good.

I addressed an audience at the First Presbyterian church on Sabbath afternoon, and at the close of the address received warm commendation and congratulations at the hands of many prominent citizens, among this number being four well known ministers and three equally well known and reputable councilmen, men who had been present during my entire discourse, and who had noted every word I made use of, and in the face of this commendation and approval the sheet made mention of dares to attack and malign me, not on account of what I said but on account of the cause which I represent, the cause of purity in home and public life. By way of illustrating my point, take the following assertion which appeared in the sheet of last evening:

The man's statement that there were not twenty virtuous men in his audience.

I made use of no such language. My statement was that "I doubt if there are 20 manly men present," and then explained, as my reason for so stating that young men, like cowards, claimed that they had a right to sow their wild oats, but barred young women from the same right. Then again the scuriously edited sheet quotes me as saying of East Liverpool.

The vilest spot in the Ohio valley, that it was the fountain head of more inquiry and disease than any city along the valley.

No such language was made of by me. The language I made use of was almost as different from the above, as darkness is from light. Again this sheet devoted to misrepresentation says:

A number of manufacturers here indulged regularly in the practice of seducing young girls. He made the astounding statement that few young girls could go to work in the East Liverpool potteries and retain their virtue.

Mr. Editor they tell me that you have fastened upon some one connected with that journal the title of Ananias. Surely Ananias, the parent of fabricators, must have framed the above astounding and untruthful statements. What I did say was this:

"I have been told by a prominent physician of East Liverpool, that it is almost a moral impossibility for a young girl to remain for any great length of time in one of your potteries without being seduced or tempted to do evil."

I made no reference to a manufacturer, but said that a boss potter had seduced girls under his employ, and that good and true girls quit his department on account of solicitation from him to do evil. And again this journal says:

Much of Huckle's address is unfit for reproduction in the columns of any paper.

The above is decidedly amusing and rich, when one takes into consideration the fact that the sheet using it last night produced, in its columns, much more offensive language than I made use of. At the conclusion of my address on Sabbath afternoon last, Reverend O'Meara, rector of St. Stephens church, came on the platform and openly commended and complimented me, and remarked that I had made use of no language which could not be made use of in the presence of any lady, and Reverend Taggart will bear Rector O'Meara out in his statement. Why is that this would be fastidious sheet, waxes so horribly indignant at William G. Huckle, when it dared not say a word when a prominent minister, only a few weeks since, from his pulpit in this city said:

"I have it from a reputable physician in our midst that the social evil in East Liverpool is awful, and that in its depraving and damning influence, it is even worse than the liquor traffic."

And this assertion was made in open church circles, in the presence of Christian ladies and gentlemen. And again this falsifying and slanderous editor says of me:

The detective stated that he could name business men, and men of high standing by the score who visited houses of ill-fame regularly, and he concluded with the statement that he would remain here until he had succeeded in purifying the city morally and politically.

A grain of truth and a mass of falsehood will best describe the above. No true man or true woman, whose record will bear watching, need fear the good citizens league or any detective on earth. It is only the vile and guilty who need fear men who hold innocence and youth as fair game in their lecherous and unholy lives. Saloonkeepers who transgress the law, by selling to minors or habitual drunkards and who desecrate the Sabbath day, these are the creatures who dread to have the light turned on, and who twist and squirm like so many eels when an investigation is ordered by the good citizens. Twist and squirm at will, ye sons and daughters of infamy. There is but one thing to save you from exposure, and that is in desisting utterly from your nefarious practices and habits. Your time is coming. The handwriting is on the wall.

And, now, a word in conclusion in reference to the officials of East Liverpool. City Solicitor Clark has been made to say that "I propose to make him give the name or crawl." Elegant phraseology for a city solicitor to make use of. Well, if he is quoted correctly, I will simply say to City Solicitor Clark: I will give the name of the city official, at the proper time—at the time it best suits me—and he had better not attempt to make me crawl, as I am not one of the crawling kind. I received a message to call on City Solicitor Clark, and I replied that he could see me by calling at the Young Men's Christian association rooms, which he did and was accorded a cordial reception.

He acknowledged that he had been present at the meeting on Sabbath afternoon, and that he could find no objection to anything I said, save for the fact that I had failed to give the name of the city official spoken of, thus casting suspicion upon innocent men in official life, and be further intimated that I must tell him, as he was city solicitor. I did not see the necessity of unbothering myself to City Solicitor Clark at that time, or even yet, but, mark you, the time will come. And let me tell you, readers of this paper, there are a number of persons in the city with flattering prospects and it will no doubt prove of great and lasting benefit.

The association is of a fraternal and educational nature aiming by constant exchange of ideas and study, to give each member the advantage of the whole body. Thirty-five names are now on the roll including all the most competent engineers in the city and others have also signified their intention of presenting themselves for examination. The business of the organization was most ably conducted by James H. Ovam, state deputy president of Cleveland, assisted by F. P. Hamilton, of Association No. 5 of Cleveland; Gus. Fredrick, state president of W. Va., and E. J. Clark, association deputy of Wheeling.

By a unanimous vote the new order was named Calhoun association, No. 41, in honor of W. L. Calhoun, the chief engineer of the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles company, he being the oldest engineer in the city, having been at the throttle since 1850, the latter half of which time has been spent in his present station. William M. Davis was chosen president, owing to his vast store of knowledge and experience, he having served but a few years less than Engineer Calhoun.

The following is a correct list of officers as elected and installed: President, William M. Davidson; vice president, James E. Anderson; recording secretary, B. F. Shane; corresponding secretary, W. A. Calhoun; financial secretary, W. H. Davidson; treasurer, A. C. Gould; conductor, John Metsch; doorkeeper, D. K. Herne; trustees, M. S. Dunlap, E. J. Jester, W. E. Pace.

The work of getting the engineers together and bringing the association to such a successful organization has been very difficult, and too much praise cannot be accorded Engineer Baxter, chief at the street railway power house, and Engineer Jester, of the Standard Pottery company.

W.M. G. HUCKLE.

NO BOATING.

The rains of last week did not produce a rise.

The rains of the last week are affecting the Ohio very little, and boatmen are again disappointed in having a boating stage. There were having rains at the headwaters of the Allegheny, but the thirsty earth eagerly drank up the water as it fell, and little of it ran off the surface into the streams. The upper Monongahela was visited with light rains, but they were general and the different pools were visibly affected. The river editor of the Pittsburgh Chronicle seems to think that there will be a repetition of the rains soon, and predicts a boating stage within 20 days.

Getting Better.

William Flinn, a well known resident of East End who has been very ill, is recovering and was able to be out yesterday.

And this assertion was made in open church circles, in the presence of Christian ladies and gentlemen. And again this falsifying and slanderous editor says of me:

A NEW JIGGER.

It Is a Good Machine and Does the Work.

The problem of an improved jigger seems to have been solved, and an improved machine is now being tested at the Union pottery.

The jigger is so constructed that a mould of any size can be placed in the head, and ware manufactured that will at least reduce the cost of the machinery. It also turns out a clean piece of ware, and leaves no mark on the bottom, such as usually found on jiggered work. It is simple in construction, and there are no intricate parts to get out of order.

In fact it is so simple that the workmen who have used it have been surprised at the time they can make, and all say that their labor is generally lessened. The jigger is the invention of Mr. Applegate, an employee of the Boyce foundry, and he has been working on it for a year. There may be some portions yet to be improved, but the actual test is developing that an improved jigger long sought for, has at last been found.

FOR LOWER GAS RATES.

An Ordinance Will Be Introduced In Council.

At a recent meeting of Trades council Messrs. Hughes, Phillips and Berg were appointed as a committee to have an ordinance drawn and presented to council asking that gas rates be regulated in the city. They took the matter to Solicitor Clark who drew up the ordinance upon the line suggested by the committee.

Manager Hunter when asked about the matter said this morning that he did not believe the ordinance would stand a test in the supreme court, and that if council insisted on making rates so low that the Bridgewater company could not live the concern do nothing, but dig up its pipes and move out.

WILL GET KILLED.

Small Boys Continue to Ride on the Pony's Trains.

A prominent manufacturing potter, whose business allows him to see the Horn switch every day, complained to the NEWS REVIEW because boys are allowed to ride on the trains which pass over the switch every day. The youngsters have so long been in possession of the cars that they have grown careless, and it is only a question of time until one or perhaps more meets serious injury or death. The gentleman stated that his hair almost stood on end when he saw some of their antics, but the trainmen can do nothing with them.

KILLED BY LOW TARIFF.

A Trenton Pottery Firm Makes an Assignment.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 11.—Dale and Davis, manufacturing potters, made an assignment today to Albanus O. Worthington. The liabilities are $92,000 and the assets $112,000.

Trade depression is given as the cause of the failure. Unless the tariff is increased by the incoming congress Mr. Dale says there will be more pottery failures this winter. Under the present tariff, he said, successful competition with foreign manufacturers is impossible. The business of Trenton potters is almost at a standstill.

Stark County Does Not Want Judge Billingsley's Place.

A special from Canton says this of the judgeship contest:

"A party of Columbian county attorneys came to Canton on Monday on business incident to the resignation of Judge Billingsley from the common pleas bench. The call was made for the purpose of discovering whether Stark county intended to make a claim on the vacancy or would produce a candidate. There is no candidate from this county, and the gentlemen went away satisfied."

A New Trial.

Judge Billingsley this afternoon set aside the verdict in the case of Officer Jennings, and granted him a new trial. He found that no more force than necessary was used, and dwelt upon the fact that McGavern was not injured.

AN HONOR.

The Rev. Cannon O'Meara, dean of St. John college, Winnipeg, a brother of the rector of St. Stephens, has had the degree of doctor of divinity conferred upon him by the university of Manitoba.

WILL LIVE IN CANTON

Plans of Governor McKinley For the Future.

CELEBRATING THEIR WEDDING

The Governor and His Estimable Wife Will Take Their Old Home and He Will Take Up the Practice of Law Where It Was Dropped Many Years Ago.

The following from the Columbus News will interest the many personal friends of Governor McKinley in the city:

The governor and Mrs. McKinley are preparing to return to the old home. Within week after the inauguration they will leave the capital. Mr. and Mrs. McKinley have nearly completed arrangements for their departure and future residence. They will go to Canton and occupy the house in which they lived 25 years ago as bride and groom. Immediately after their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. McKinley began housekeeping in the abode mentioned. They lived there until Mr. McKinley was elected to congress. Then the national capital became their home during the sessions of the lawmakers. When they returned to Canton at intervals when congress was adjourned, they boarded at a hotel, inasmuch as it was not advisable to provide an individual establishment there for the brief period Mr. McKinley was away from the cares of office at Washington. Soon after leaving congress Mr. McKinley was elected governor, and in the interval he and Mrs. McKinley were still living at a hotel. It thus happens that not since the governor's advent into congress have he and his accomplished wife occupied the home of their youth.

"It is now being renovated and prepared for the return of the distinguished wanderers. While in Columbus, the governor and Mrs. McKinley have lived at a hotel continuously. They first found a home at the Chittenden, and it was while they were there that the hotel was destroyed by fire. In that conflagration, which also swept away two opera houses and another auditorium, the governor lost some valuable books and papers, but most of his possessions were saved through the prompt action of some of the statehouse officials, who endangered their lives in carrying his household goods from the flames.

"The one very notable official act left for Governor McKinley to perform before he steps down and out of the office of chief executive, will be his annual message to the incoming legislature and his farewell address to the people of Ohio.

"The ceremony of inducting the new governor into office and the retirement of the old incumbent always is somewhat dramatic. Both appear on the same platform, whether or not of the same party, and amid potted plants and wild huzzas they play their parts. The new governor delivers his salutatory in which he promises much, and the gentleman who returns to private life endeavors to leave behind him his foot prints on the sands of time.

"The legislature convenes the same day, and its members thus brought together are treated to a brilliant introduction to official life. In the evening the governor's reception, given by the incoming chief executive, takes place, and at this event the members of the legislature are guests of special honor.

"After the blare and blaze of Governor Bushnell's inauguration, Governor McKinley, of course, becomes a private citizen. He will be "William McKinley, attorney-at-law," and his shingle as such will wave in the breezes at Canton. He has decided to resume the practice of law as soon as he goes out of office. He expects to be an attorney until the time he becomes president of the United States. There will be a period of some length in which the governor will be at liberty to practice his profession. He will go out of office January 5, and will not have an opportunity to become president until more than a year later. The return of Mr. and Mrs. McKinley to Canton will be signalled by a very notable social event. The evening of January 29, just after they have become well settled in their old home, they will celebrate their silver wedding. The date will be the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. The silver wedding, while intended to be one of those quiet, but tasteful social events for which Mrs. McKinley is famed, will be a very elaborate affair. It is probable that they will have as guests some of the most distinguished men in the country. The list of invitations, however, probably will be largely composed of the old time neighbors and fellow-townsmen of Governor and Mrs. McKinley.

And let me tell you, readers of this paper, there are a number of officials in East Liverpool who have the very best of reasons for knowing just who I mean.

By the way, you have a cordial invitation to attend the good citizenship meeting at the First M. E. church on Thursday night, Nov. 14, when I shall have the honor of addressing the ladies and gentlemen present, in company with Reverends Huston, Lee, Whitehead and Taggart—all good men and true, who have the best of reasons for believing that I am actuated by true and worthy motives.

WILLIAM G. HUCKLE.

Explanatory.

For fear that I will be misunderstood and misconstrued, and desiring to be absolutely fair and just in my public and private assertions, I desire to say that by my expression "Boss Potter," used in my talk at the First Presbyterian church on Sunday afternoon last, I referred to the boss of a department in a pottery in this city, and not to a manufacturer. Further, if a manufacturer, business man or public official be found guilty of unlawful or illegal work in this city, his position, no matter what it may be, shall not protect him from punishment. The men whom I represent are not to be scared by money, power, influence or bogie stories, yarns, or threats. No honest or good citizen has anything to fear.

"It is now being renovated and prepared for the return of the distinguished wanderers. While in Columbus, the governor and Mrs. McKinley have lived at a hotel continuously. They first found a home at the Chittenden, and it was while they were there that the hotel was destroyed by fire. In that conflagration, which also swept away two opera houses and another auditorium, the governor lost some valuable books and papers, but most of his possessions were saved through the prompt action of some of the statehouse officials, who endangered their lives in carrying his household goods from the flames.

"The one very notable official act left for Governor McKinley to perform before he steps down and out of the office of chief executive, will be his annual message to the incoming legislature and his farewell address to the people of Ohio.

"The ceremony of inducing the new governor into office and the retirement of the old incumbent always is somewhat dramatic. Both appear on the same platform, whether or not of the same party, and amid potted plants and wild buzzards they play their parts. The new governor delivers his salutatory in which he promises much, and the gentleman who returns to private life endeavors to leave behind him his foot prints on the sands of time.

"The legislature convenes the same day, and its members thus brought together are treated to a brilliant introduction to official life. In the evening the governor's reception, given by the incoming chief executive, takes place, and at this event the members of the legislature are guests of special honor.

"After the blare and blaze of Governor Bushnell's inauguration, Governor McKinley, of course, becomes a private citizen. He will be "William McKinley, attorney-at-law," and his shingle assuch will wave in the breezes at Canton. He has decided to resume the practice of law as soon as he goes out of office. He expects to be an attorney until the time he becomes president of the United States. There will be a period of some length in which the governor will be at liberty to practice his profession. He will go out of office January 5, and will not have an opportunity to become president until more than a year later.

The return of Mr. and Mrs. McKinley to Canton will be signified by a very notable social event. The evening of January 29, just after they have become well settled in their old home, they will celebrate their silver wedding. That date will be the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage. The silver wedding, while intended to be one of those quiet but tasteful social events for which Mrs. McKinley is famed, will be a very elaborate affair.

It is probable that they will have as guests some of the most distinguished men in the country. The list of invitations, however, probably will be largely composed of the old time neighbors and fellow-towners of Governor and Mrs. McKinley.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., TUESDAY, NOV. 12.

For President,
WILLIAM MCKINLEY,
of Ohio.

READ the NEWS REVIEW and always know the news.

THE COUNTRY really has something for which it can be thankful this year.

In a few months Governor McKinley will be again a lawyer in Canton; but if the signs do not fail, he will soon be president in Washington.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND is allowing some of his friends to make his answer to the third term question very much like the "Lady and the Tiger" problem. And perhaps Grover can not answer it any better than the author of the other story could give his solution.

LET BRADLEY ALONE.

The Toledo Blade wisely sounds a note of warning concerning the agitation in favor of the nomination of Governor Bradley, of Kentucky, for the vice presidency, pointing out that it would not be policy to have the Republican ticket made up of men from adjoining states. The Blade can not but have many supporters in this movement, for the friends of Governor McKinley in the next national convention are not going to take chances of any sort. If the convention finds it desirable to select a man for president who lives far away from the candidate for vice president, the Ohio delegation can do no more than sacrifice any man in favor of their candidate. If Governor McKinley is to represent Republicanism next year, the good friends of Governor Bradley in Ohio must argue to themselves that the patriotic gentleman must wait a few years longer for the high honor they are now so anxious to thrust upon him.

TARIFF PROSPECTS.

It is reasonable to suppose that any changes in the existing tariff schedules will include an increase in the duty on pottery, and that is the very thing for which East Liverpool should toll until the desired end is reached. That the unjust discrimination against crockery in the making up of the tariff law should be changed, is a fact now being recognized among the highest authorities, due probably to the untiring efforts of the friends of the industry. The New York Press asserts that the cut in the crockery duty is one of the causes for the deficit, and recommends that the next congress makes amends by restoring the tariff and placing the government on a better basis financially. This gives the friends of pottery an opportunity to work, and if they go deep into the matter and keep pushing it soon after congress convenes, it is probable that something will be done. A piece of the old duty would be better than nothing, and since even the Democrats agree that the cut was too deep, their influence, such as it is, might be used with effect in restoring the duty.

For a pain in the side or chest there is nothing so good as a piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound on over the seat of pain. It affords prompt and permanent relief and if used in time will often prevent a cold from resulting in pneumonia. This same treatment is a sure cure for lame back. For sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

RECEIPT OF TAX.

County Treasurer I. B. Cameron will be at the Grand Hotel, East Liverpool, on the 13 and and 14 of November, 1895, for the purpose of receiving taxes. Those interested will make note and save trouble and annoyance.

FOREIGNERS KNOW OUR WEAKNESS

The People of the United States Have a False Sense of Security—Favors Bicycles For Army Use—Various Recommendations in His Report.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The annual report of General Miles, commanding the army, has been made public. The personnel is shown to be in excellent condition, well instructed, efficient and attentive to duty. Liberal appropriations are required for public buildings at the posts many of which are out of repair. General Miles believes that the peaceable conditions now existing among the various Indian tribes is largely attributable to the presence of troops at suitable points and to the admirable conduct of the experienced army officers, who have been placed in charge of the principal agencies. While it is economical and desirable to have the reserve forces of the army near the great centers of communication, General Miles urgently contends that these points should be selected solely for their strategic value and that the tendency toward concentration should not be carried to the point of depriving the western settlements of proper protection.

Under the head of coast defense, General Miles states the condition of these defenses is such as to require decided and immediate action for their improvement. The unguarded condition of our coast is known by every first-class power, and our people should not be led into false security. He quotes from his report of 1884 a strong argument for the defense of Puget sound, shows that since that time Canadian railroad connections have been established there, yet not a single gun has been placed in position for defense, while those at the entrance of the Columbia are obsolete and of little value. It is true that some progress has been made towards defending San Francisco.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND is allowing some of his friends to make his answer to the third term question very much like the "Lady and the Tiger" problem. And perhaps Grover can not answer it any better than the author of the other story could give his solution.

M. E. Tract Society Anniversary.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 12.—The anniversary of the Methodist Tract society was largely attended here. Among the speakers were Rev. C. J. Little, president of the Garrett Biblical Institute, Evanston, Ills.; Rev. J. L. Hulbert, corresponding secretary; Rev. J. M. Freeman, assistant corresponding secretary; F. L. Naylor German, assistant secretary; H. R. Doherty, Ph. D., recording secretary of the Sundayschool union.

He says that our people cherish two misleading delusions, first, that torpedoes can be depended upon to protect our coasts, and, second, that its 4,000 miles of coast can be defended by a navy. He shows that torpedo plants are useless without protective batteries and that the water in our principal harbors is so deep that light draft war vessels might pass over torpedo mines without danger. He asserts that the recent maneuvers in England have shown that even the powerful English navy is unable to defend the British coast against a foreign fleet; therefore, he argues that the main reliance must be upon coast batteries. Therefore he strongly recommends the construction of all the high-power guns and system of defenses called for in the general plan of the board of ordnance and fortifications and other boards, and to meet in part the expense of this costly undertaking he suggests the application of the funds that might be derived from the sale of abandoned military reservations. To man these guns he asks an increase of the artillery arm.

Touching the infantry, General Miles recommends the three battalion organization, and regimental posts to keep the companies of a regiment together. To thoroughly demonstrate the utility of bicycles and motor wagons in the army, it is recommended that a force of 12 companies be equipped with these devices to be manned from the 4,000 officers and men in the army able to use a bicycle which has been already found extremely useful. General Miles also argues for an increase in the strength of the army. General Miles concludes his report with several recommendations intended to benefit the condition of the officers and men and attract to the military service the best element in the community.

Disappeared From Home.

WASHINGTON C. H., O., Nov. 12.—William Wilt, living on the Greenfield pike, two miles south of Washington C. H., has disappeared from home. He has not been seen since Friday at 1 p.m.

FOREIGNERS KNOW OUR WEAKNESS

The People of the United States Have a False Sense of Security—Favors Bicycles for Army Use—Various Recommendations in His Report.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The annual report of General Miles, commanding the army, has been made public. The personnel is shown to be in excellent condition, well instructed, efficient and attentive to duty. Liberal appropriations are required for public buildings at the posts many of which are out of repair. General Miles believes that the peaceable conditions now existing among the various Indian tribes is largely attributable to the presence of troops at suitable points and to the admirable conduct of the experienced army officers, who have been placed in charge of the principal agencies. While it is economical and desirable to have the reserve forces of the army near the great centers of communication, General Miles urgently contends that these points should be selected solely for their strategic value and that the tendency toward concentration should not be carried to the point of depriving the western settlements of proper protection.

Under the head of coast defense, General Miles states the condition of these defenses is such as to require decided and immediate action for their improvement. The unguarded condition of our coast is known by every first-class power, and our people should not be led into false security. He quotes from his report of 1884 a strong argument for the defense of Puget sound, shows that since that time Canadian railroad connections have been established there, yet not a single gun has been placed in position for defense, while those at the entrance of the Columbia are obsolete and of little value. It is true that some progress has been made towards defending San Francisco and a few modern guns and rifles have been placed. These, however, are but a small part of the general plan for the defense of the harbor, while San Diego is in the same condition as Puget sound, entirely at the mercy of the foreign fleet.

General Miles recalls what he said in his report of 1889 upon the absolute importance of the defense of the entire Pacific coast, in view of the fact that it was possible for any naval power to blockade every important port within 90 days, while it would take many years to make a successful resistance and the country might be required to pay an indemnity of $5,000,000,000. While the railroads might transport 1,000,000 brave men to the coast, they would be useless without appliances to cope with the modern engines of war, and with all our intelligence, pride, inventive genius and enterprise we are as far behind in the modern appliances of war as China or Japan. Such were the conditions six years ago, says General Miles, and such are the conditions today, with the exception of the slight progress made at San Francisco.

The entire gulf coast and all the great cities of the Atlantic coast northward to Philadelphia are entirely without modern guns. In position are a few obsolete guns and none of these batteries could stop a single first-class warship less than a fleet. Some progress has been made at New York, but, like San Francisco, only a small part of the project has been accomplished. With one exception the cities north of New York are in a similar condition to those south of it. Some guns and mortars have been constructed and some shipped to their destination, carriages for them are under construction and emplacements have been made.

He says that our people cherish two misleading delusions, first, that torpedoes can be depended upon to protect our coasts, and, second, that its 4,000 miles of coast can be defended by a navy. He shows that torpedo plants are useless without protective batteries, and that the water in our principal harbors is so deep that light-draft war vessels might pass over torpedo mines without danger. He asserts that the recent maneuvers in England have shown that even the powerful English navy is unable to defend the British coast against a foreign fleet; there, he argues that the main reliance must be upon coast batteries. WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The withdrawal of $1,000,000 in gold for export by Crossman of New York was not in any sense a surprise to the treasury officials, yet the announcement was not welcome news. No explanation is offered, and as to the probabilities of further shipments the officials seem quite as much in the dark as outsiders.

They do not disguise the fact that they are apprehensive of the future. The last shipment of any importance occurred on Sept. 27 last, when the reserves stood at about $92,800,000, which is almost the exact amount at which it stands today.

Carolina's Serious Illness Doubtful.

DARMSTADT, Nov. 12.—Nothing is known in court circles here of the sensational story circulated in the United States regarding the illness of the czarina, whose life was said to be despaired of as the result of Cesarian operation. It is believed that her condition was as serious as reported, it would certainly be known here at the palace, among her relatives and in the official circles of the grand duchy.

State of the Erie Confirmed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—Judge Lacombe, in the United States circuit court, has handed down a decision confirming the sale of the New York, Lake Erie and Western railway, made on Nov. 7 by a master, and which is in line with the Morgan syndicate's plan

provinces, in which the Kurdish tribes are said to have perpetrated atrocities more terrible than any before credited to them.

It is stated upon apparently good authority that whole districts of Erzernon and Sivas, the scenes of so much bloodshed in the past, have been devastated by the Kurds, who have wiped village after village out of existence, and that the sword and fire are sweeping over the country.

The rioting and bloodshed at Erzernon is said to have been much more serious than any reports previously made public have pictured it, and it is asserted that even the presence of Shakir Pasha with his troops failed to stop the massacre. The unresisting Armenian men, women and children were bludgeoned to death by hundreds in the streets.

BYRNES A BLACKMAILER.

An Ex-Gambler Says the Ex-Superintendent Blew Him of $2,000.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—The commissioners of accounts, who have been investigating transactions of the dock board for some time, have turned into the field covered by the Lexow committee and brought forward testimony which, for the first time, implicates Thomas Byrnes, the noted ex-superintendent of police, in the blackmailing scandals.

The accusing witness was Christian W. Schafer, an old man, who testified that he had kept gambling houses in this city since 1857. He said that while Byrnes was captain of the Fifteenth precinct, about 1872 or 1873, he paid him $2,000 for the privilege of running a gambling joint.

CARRIED A TORCH.

The Absence of Light on the Calcutta Road Causes Trouble.

People residing on the Calcutta road were surprised last night to see a light moving slowly up the newly graded way. So seldom has anything of this sort been seen that people went to their doors, and smilingly watched the light move along the road. At length it struck someone that the light was in a wagon, and was held by a man, who drove with the other hand. When questioned why he did it, he replied that there was only electric light to provide for a few spots and he wanted light for the dark places.

IT MAY DO AS MUCH FOR YOU.

MARTIN BROZKA, the Second street blacksmith, was surprised by a large party of friends last night, who spent a pleasant evening helping him celebrate his forty-fourth anniversary.

One of the sights on the streets last night was an individual walking along Market street and singing at the top of his voice. He was drunk, and happy, and made it known to the world.

Newell Buzzard, the Liverpool boy who has been in Lisbon waiting the pleasure of Judge Young, having been sent from this city charged with truancy, was sent to the children's home today.

because of the recent rains, and think there will be two feet more water tomorrow than when the stream was lowest. They have nothing to say about a boating stage.

Two marriage licenses for the East Liverpool parties were issued in Lisbon today. Theodore Burke and Miss Anna Vaugh were given a license, and J. T. Grosscross and Miss Cora Logan were also given a permit.

A young man who would not have his name known for the world fell into a vault on Second street this morning, and had some difficulty in getting out. The floor broke under his weight, and he feared that he would never come from the place alive.

The agitation in favor of the offices allowed the city by reason of its grade has not died out by any means, and the candidates are as active as ever.

An attorney who will be in the fight is responsible for the opinion that the names will be put on the tickets next spring, and the offices filled.

A rough looking individual, who said he was nothing more than a tramp, called at a residence on Broadway this morning, and after asking for me informed the lady of the house that she need not give it to him if she was not willing to give hot coffee also. He got nothing at that place.

The intelligent compositor made the NEWS REVIEW say yesterday that the revival services to be conducted by the Layman's Bible league next month would be held in the First U. P. church when it should have said Methodist Protestant church. The league meets every Tuesday evening in Ferguson & Hill hall.

A shoplifter was detected attempting to place a cheap article in her pocket at a local dry goods store last night, the proprietor of the place seeing the movement. At the same instant she caught his eye, and a guilty flush overspread her features as she placed the article in its place on the counter. The merchant did not utter a word, neither did the woman, but both knew that she had attempted to steal, and both were glad there had been no exposure.

A local church in town had a sensation which has caused no end of talk, but is now sinking into obscurity.

A member was married not long ago, and after a few months it was discovered that a young woman in the city was in an interesting condition, and laid the blame at the door of the man in question. The difficulty, it is said, has been settled to the satisfaction of the interested parties, and the church officials have decided to give the man another trial.

THE NEWS REVIEW learns, in answer to the question of yesterday whether dealers were allowed to sell firearms to boys, that many youngsters in the city have revolvers. They do not, however, buy them at stores, but get them from persons much older, who, when they have a revolver to sell, can always find a purchaser in some school boy. A potter who has two sons not yet 15 years of age found the other day that each had a revolver, which had been bought from an older boy who worked at the pottery.

A Drunken Woman Attracted Attention on a Car.

Passengers on an eastbound street car yesterday afternoon were shocked and surprised to discover that a woman who occupied a conspicuous position in the car was filled with liquor, and supporting a jag of monstrous proportions. She left the car at the power house, and after a lot of difficulty in getting down the steps, staggered to one of the houses in that vicinity. She seemed to be a stranger or to have forgotten just where she lived, and acted so that the passengers could not refrain from laughter.

A MISSION ATTACKED.

Missionaries Escape, Servants Killed Near Jerusalem.

10,000 ARMENIANS MASSACRED.

That Number Have Already Been Killed and the List Constantly Increasing—Ambassadors Send Another Warning to the Porte—Horrible Tales of Bloodshed.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 12.—The English mission near Jerusalem has been attacked by a riotous mob. The missionaries escaped, but some of the servants of the mission were killed.

The number of victims of the Baiburt massacre is now reported to be 1,000, and it is estimated that the total number of Armenians, men, women and children, killed during all the most recent massacres exceeds 10,000, and that the total is being constantly added to.

As a result of the exchange of numerous telegrams between the representatives of the powers and their respective governments, an important meeting of the ambassadors has been held here and the situation was thoroughly discussed. Finally it was decided to send fresh representations to the Turkish minister for foreign affairs, demanding in stronger language than ever to know what action the porto was going to take to restore order in Armenia, and giving notification that the European powers will interfere if something is not done soon.

It is known that the sultan still refuses to believe that the powers are in accord as to the action to be taken in case of the porto's failure to restore order in the Turkish empire. The opinion is freely expressed that nothing short of a naval demonstration will awaken the Turks to a realization of the actual condition of affairs.

The most horrible accounts are constantly arriving here, in spite of the efforts taken to suppress them, of massacres and degradations in the eastern provinces, in which the Kurdish tribes are said to have perpetrated atrocities more terrible than any before credited to them.

It is stated upon apparently good authority that whole districts of Erzrum and Sivas, the scenes of so much bloodshed in the past, have been devastated by the Kurds, who have wiped village after village out of existence, and that the sword and fire are sweeping over the country.

Czarina's Serious Illness Doubted.

MARSTADT, Nov. 12.—Nothing is known in court circles here of the sensational story circulated in the United States regarding the illness of the czarina whose life was said to be despaired of as the result of Casarian operation. It is believed that if her condition was as serious as reported, it would certainly be known here at the palace, among her relatives and in the official circles of the grand duchy.

Mr. Fred Miller, of Irving, Ill., writes that he had a severe kidney trouble for many years, with severe pains in his back and also that his bladder was affected. He tried many so called kidney cures but without good result. About a year ago he began use of Electric Bitters and found relief at once. Electric Bitters are especially adapted to cure of all kidney and liver troubles and often gives almost instant relief. One trial will prove our statement. Price only 50 cents for large bottle. At Potts drug store.

OWNS THE STATION.

THE FIREMEN HAVE A NEW CHIEF, WHO IS SEVERE.

The firemen are occasioned no small amount of amusement by the presence of an individual who imagines he owns the place, and all the firemen are under his direct command. He takes great delight in giving orders, and never seems to know that his commands are not obeyed. Occasionally he will warn a member of the department that instant dismissal will follow if he refuses to do what he has ordered. The commander is a well grown boy, who is evidently demented.

W. A. McGuire, a well known citizen of McKeesport, O., is of the opinion that there is nothing as good for children troubled with colds or croup as Chamberlain's Cough remedy. He has used it in his family for several years with the best results and always keeps a bottle of it in the house. After having a grippe he was himself troubled with a severe cough. He used other remedies without benefit and then concluded to try the children's medicine and to his delight it soon effected a permanent cure. Twenty-five and 50 cent bottles for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

NOT ABUSE.

Mrs. Wallace says there was some mistake.

Mrs. Wallace, wife of the West End man who was charged last week with abusing his family, says there was some mistake about the matter, and that her husband never engages in anything of that sort. The only row at their house on the night when the patrol was called was a dispute between Mr. Wallace and the landlord, and this grew out of some trouble over the ownership of a gun. Mrs. Wallace denies that her husband destroyed the furniture, and declared that he is a man always kind to his family.

Henry Wilson, the postmaster at Wellston, Florida, says he cured a case of diarrhoea of long standing in six hours, with one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy. What a pleasant surprise that must have been to the sufferer. Such cures are not unusual with this remedy. In many instances only one or two doses are required to give permanent relief. It can always be depended upon. When reduced with water it is pleasant to take. For sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

FOR EXTRA WORK AT ELECTION

They Petition Claims Committee to Pay
Up For What They Did in Counting the Votes on the Bond Issue—Other Bills
Passed Upon at the Meeting.

Claims committee talked about bills and finance last evening, and discovered that the clerks and judges of elections wanted extra pay for work done in counting the votes on the bond issue.

Members Purinton, Horwell and Owen were present when Clerk Hanley brought out the mass of papers in his possession, and they began work. The most important part of the proceedings was the reading of the following petition signed by the clerks and judges of the late election:

To Honorable City Council:
We, the undersigned, judges and clerks of the election held on Tuesday, November 5, in the four wards of the city, do ask your honorable body to recompense us for the extra labor performed on the voting for the bond issue. All other elections where there have been two boxes and two books to be used, the clerks and judges have been allowed double pay."

After a few minutes discussion it was decided to allow the bill to go to council tonight for final settlement. After holding over a number of other bills the committee decided to pay the following:

ASKING A FRANCHISE.

The Phoenix Telephone Company Will Be After Council.

The Phoenix Telephone Company will be at council tonight for the purpose of asking a franchise, and the officials believe they will be successful in having council pass the ordinance. H. L. Simms stated last night that the company had so many subscribers in sight at present that they were feeling very good, and expected to have the system in operation soon if council does not cause a delay. John R. Martin is pushing the business in Wellsville, William Hostetter is doing all he can at Lisbon, and the poles are being placed in position at Toronto.

SELLING TO MINORS.

Joseph Bradley Must Answer to the Mayor Tonight.

Joseph Bradley was notified by the police that he must answer to the mayor tonight on a charge of selling liquor to a minor.

F. G. Hoover was arrested this morning by Detective Meehan for train jumping. He left his watch with the mayor for security.

The charge against James Massey for selling liquor to an habitual was withdrawn by Mrs. Patterson, and the case was not tried today.

The Parisian Princess.

Corse Payton's repertoire made their initial appearance at the Grand last night in Agnes Herndon's great success, "The Parisian Princess," to the largest audience the theater has ever known, every seat in the house, including boxes, being sold, while standing room was at a par. The play was well received, and a number of neat specialties were rendered. The scenery was especially fine, the Princess' mansion in the fourth act being the finest stage setting the theater-going people have ever seen in the city. A large number of colored incandescent electric lights, including calcium lights, made the scene one of dazzling beauty. Tonight they play "Rose Cottage," a comedy drama which cannot fail to please, when rendered by a meritorious company, such as Corse Payton's.

Shore Acres.

Rev. J. Villa Blake, of the Second Unitarian church of Chicago, spoke of the beauties of "Shore Acres" from his pulpit on Sunday of last week, and urged his congregation to see the play, which he commended for its high moral value. It is said that Dr. Lyman Abbott also recommended Mr. Herne's comedy-drama during its recent engagement in Brooklyn.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

A Telephone Company.

McGhie & Moore, of this city, have been granted a franchise by the council of Sistersville for the construction of a telephone system in that place. Mr. McGhie was seen by a reporter today, but had little to say about the matter. They do not know when the work will be commenced.

Don't miss "Shore Acres," or you will always regret it.

East Liverpool Cotillion Club.

The members of this organization will give a very delightful and enjoyable hop at Bradshaw's hall this evening. Professor Christy, of Pittsburgh, will be present and introduce all the latest and most fashionable dances. Music by Professor Wolt's orchestra.

Everybody is going to see "Shore Acres."

Dear Sir—I began taking your "Favorite Prescription" the first month of pregnancy, and have continued taking it since confinement. I did not experience the seas or any of the ailments due to pregnancy, after I began taking your "Prescription." I was only in labor a short time, and the physician said I got along unusually well.

We think it saved me a great deal of suffering. I was troubled a great deal with leucorrhea also, and it has done a world of good for me.

Yours truly,

Mrs. W. C. BAKER.

MAHER WHIPS O'DONNELL.

He Knocks Out the Australian the First Round in Cyclone Style.

MARSHALL, L. L., Nov. 12.—The scheduled 25-round mill between Peter Maher, the Irish champion, and Steve O'Donnell of Australia, who has been long associated with Champion Corbett as sparring partner, came to an untimely end. It was one of the quickest battles on record, for O'Donnell was knocked out in one round, the man being on their feet only 37 seconds. Maher never gave his opponent a chance, but knocked him down three times in succession and the last time O'Donnell could not rise.

Men threw up their hats and yelled like demons. Many of them succeeded in getting into the ring and hugged Maher. Corbett climbed through the ropes, and from the ring he addressed the audience as well as he could amid cries and cheers. He said: "Maher, you have fought a good fight." It was rumored that Corbett had presented Maher with the heavyweight championship, but this rumor was denied later.

Preceding the bout there were loud cries for Corbett to make a speech. Someone called "Three cheers for Fitzsimmons," and they were given with a will by "hankie Bob" the partisans, many of whom were among the spectators. Corbett climbed through the ropes, and from the ring he addressed the audience as well as he could amid cries and cheers. He said:

"Gentlemen, thank you very much, you have all the representative newspaper men in America here tonight and all I can say is this: If I was in England or Australia and acted as Fitzsimmons did in this match I would be chased out of the country." (Voices cheering.)

Now Lexowling Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.—The Senate investigating committee, appointed to inquire into the workings of the local municipal government under the present charter, has begun in the hotel Metropole what is expected to prove a searching, as well as sensational investigation. The members present are Senators W. H. Andrews of Crawford county, chairman; T. B. Hardenbergh, Wayne; Arthur Kennedy, Allegheny county; Samuel J. McCarroll, Dauphin, and John C. Grady, Philadelphia; the only absentee being C. Wesley Thomas of Philadelphia.

Iron Hall Receiver's Report.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 12.—Receiver Falle of the order of Iron Hall has made his report. He says he is chargeable since Oct. 17, 1894, with $1,025,463, and he has paid out $838,860. The cash balance is $178,319. There are outstanding claims amounting to $154,763, and the receiver says the balance, after paying all claims, will be $10,000. $791,000 is in the suspended Iron Hall bank at Philadelphia. The expense account includes $15,000 for the receiver and $50,000 for his attorneys.

Further Action Against Lynching.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 12.—The constitutional convention has taken further action toward preventing lynching by providing that any county in which a lynching occurred or where a prisoner is taken from officers and suffers bodily injury shall be liable to damages in a sum of not less than $1,000 to the person so injured or to his legal representatives, if he is killed.
